

Budget 2026: What It Means for Professional Services & Owner-Managed Companies

Corporation Tax rates are unchanged, but how you take profits out, sell the business and keep records are all under closer scrutiny from April 2027 onwards.

Taking profits out

- Directors' loans. Extra reporting was dropped after consultation, but HMRC remains focused on directors' loan accounts and payments to shareholders. Every withdrawal should be properly recorded as salary, dividend, loan or benefit.
- Holding company and buy-back arrangements. From April 2028, profits taken through these capital routes are expected to be taxed as income. Genuine sales to third parties and family succession are protected. If you are mid-reorganisation, talk to us before the next step.
- Salary. If you pay yourself a small salary, keep it above the new Lower Earnings Limit of £6,916 a year so 2027-28 counts towards your State Pension.

Selling the business

Business Asset Disposal Relief falls to a £500,000 lifetime limit for sales on or after 6 April 2027. On a £1 million gain that can mean £30,000 more tax, and a rushed pre-April contract will not necessarily protect the old limit.

Payroll and benefits

- From 6 April 2027, tax on company cars, vans, fuel and medical cover goes through payroll; other benefits follow in April 2028.
- The National Living Wage rises 3.9% to £13.21 an hour from 1 April 2027.

HMRC compliance and directors' liability

- Correcting errors. From 1 April 2028, you must correct inaccurate returns once you find the error, and HMRC can issue Customer Correction Notices.
- Personal liability. HMRC can publish more detail when naming deliberate defaulters, including Personal Liability Notices that move a company's penalty onto a director.
- Disqualification. For offences from 1 April 2027, directors convicted under HMRC's tax security rules can be disqualified for up to five years.
